Fremont is a city located in Alameda County California. With a 2020 population of 247,708, it is the 16th largest city in California and the 92nd largest city in the United States. With over 50% of residents being of Asian origin, celebrating their culture and art is imperative. Fremont is currently growing at a rate of 1.35% annually and its population has increased by 15.70% since the most recent census, which recorded a population of 214,089 in 2010.

Fremont was the site of the Apple factory that made the first Mac computer. This led to the development of other tech companies, including Asyst Technologies, Nextlink California, and Cirrus Logic, to name a few. There were about 750 tech companies located in Fremont by the time the 2000s rolled around. Since the 1980s, Fremont has also played an essential role in the automotive industry, as it was the location of the General Motors auto assembly plant. The plant later became a joint venture between GM and Toyota, although operations closed in 2010. However, Tesla has since acquired part of the plant.
